Data Management System

What is it and why do we need it?

What is it?

- A cohesive, integrated system designed to enable users to access and analyze information to support problem-solving and decision-making
 - Gathers and links disparate sources of data
 - Generates reports and allows for analysis
 - Provides user-specific information (e.g, teacher view, principal view)

Why do we need it?

- Calculate the REIL Score on which teachers and principals will be compensated
- Allow teachers and principals to see their own REIL Score and all components
- Allow users to monitor student and teacher progress
- Provide links to instructional supports to improve teacher and student performance
